JEFFREY L. DRYDEN,

Plaintiff.

V.

ANDREA BAREFIELD, et al.

Defendants.

Case No. 2:13-cv-01896-RCJ-PAL

ORDER AND REPORT OF FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATION

(Amended Complaints – Dkt. ##4, 5)

13 This matter is before the court on Plaintiff's Amended Complaints (Dkt. ##4, 5) both 14 filed June 27, 2014. Plaintiff is proceeding in this matter pro se and in forma pauperis.
15 Previously, the court screened Plaintiff's Complaint (Dkt. #3), found he did not state a claim 16 upon which relief could be granted, and directed him to file an Amended Complaint if he 17 believed he could cure the noted deficiencies. Plaintiff filed two Amended Complaints, which 18 make the same allegations. Because the second-docketed Amended Complaint contains more 19 detail, the court will treat it as the operative pleading and screen it.

Upon granting a request to proceed in forma pauperis, a court must additionally screen a complaint pursuant to § 1915(a). Federal courts are given the authority dismiss a case if the action is legally “frivolous or malicious,” fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2). When a court dismisses a complaint under § 1915(a), the plaintiff should be given leave to amend the complaint with directions as to curing its deficiencies, unless it is clear from the face of the complaint that the deficiencies could not be cured by amendment. See Cato v. United States, 70 F.3d 1103, 1106 (9th Cir. 1995).

1 Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provides for dismissal of a 2 complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Review under Rule 3 12(b)(6) is essentially a ruling on a question of law. See Chappel v. Laboratory Corp. of 4 America, 232 F.3d 719, 723 (9th Cir. 2000). A properly pled complaint must provide a short and 5 plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P.
 6 8(a)(2); Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007). Although Rule 8 does not 7 require detailed factual allegations, it demands “more than labels and conclusions” or a 8 “formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 9 (2009) (citing Papasan v. Allain, 478 U.S. 265, 286 (1986)). The court must accept as true all 10 well-pled factual allegations contained in the complaint, but the same requirement does not apply 11 to legal conclusions. Id. Mere recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported only by 12 conclusory allegations, do not suffice. Id. at 679-80. Secondly, where the claims in the 13 complaint have not crossed the line from plausible to conceivable, the complaint should be 14 dismissed. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570.

15 Dryden's Amended Complaint attempts to state claims under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 against 16 Defendant Andrea E. Barefield and two Jane Doe Defendants. To state a claim under section 17 1983, a plaintiff must allege that a right secured by the Constitution has been violated, and the 18 deprivation was committed by a person acting under color of state law. West v. Atkins, 487 U.S.
 19 42 (1988) (citation omitted). States and state officers sued in their official capacity are not 20 “persons” for the purposes of a section 1983 action, and generally, they may not be sued under 21 the statute. Will v. Mich. Dept. of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 71 (1989). Section 1983 does 22 allow suits against state officers in their individual capacities. Hafer v. Melo, 502 U.S. 21, 26 23 (1991).

24 A. Factual Allegations.

25 Plaintiff alleges that he is a California citizen, living in Nevada, who attended the 26 University of Nevada Las Vegas (“UNLV”) as a graduate student. He alleges that prior to 27 attending UNLV, he graduated from University of California Davis School of Law and passed 28 the California and Nevada bar examinations and the Multistate Professional Responsibility exam.

1 He alleges Defendant Andrea Barefield was the Coordinator of the Office of Student Conduct for 2 UNLV. Plaintiff alleges he does not know the identities of the Jane Doe Defendants, but they 3 were both employed by the Nevada System of Higher Education. Plaintiff has sued each 4 Defendant in an individual capacity and an official capacity.

5 Plaintiff alleges “on information and belief” that Barefield promulgated a rule that 6 criminalizes “failing to comply with reasonable directions of University officials (i.e., faculty, 7 staff, graduate assistants, resident assistants, student employees) or law enforcement officers who 8 have identified themselves as such and are performing their duties.” Complaint at ¶ 24. He 9 asserts that Barefield told the Nevada State Bar that he had been expelled for violating this rule.¹
 10 He contends that as a result of Barefield’s statements, he was denied admission to the Nevada 11 State Bar.

12 In addition, the Amended Complaint alleges that a uniformed UNLV police officer 13 accused Dryden of committing an unspecified crime and that a uniformed UNLV detective 14 showed up, unannounced, at Plaintiff’s place of employment and conducted a custodial 15 interrogation. Plaintiff contends he answered all questions concerning his identity and provided 16 the detective with his state-issued driver’s license and UNLV student identification card.
 17 Plaintiff alleges he asserted his Miranda rights, requested an attorney, and refused to answer any 18 of the police officer’s questions about the alleged crime. He contends his attorney contacted the 19 UNLV police officer to set up an appointment to answer the police officer’s questions. Plaintiff 20 alleges the police detective “demanded” Plaintiff waive his Miranda rights. Plaintiff did not and 21 refused to answer questions about the alleged crime. Plaintiff alleges the UNLV asked Barefield 22 to discipline Plaintiff for asserting his Miranda rights. Plaintiff alleges Barefield knew the police 23 officer’s complaint was baseless, but she expelled Dryden for failing to comply with the officer’s 24 reasonable directions.

25 ///

26
 27 ¹ Plaintiff has not adequately realleged his claims regarding the alleged 28 unconstitutionalities of this rule. Although he alleges they are “unconstitutionally vague and overbroad,” these are the only allegations. Even if Plaintiff had re-alleged them, however, the court would recommend dismissal of them for the reasons set forth in the original Screening Order. See (Dkt. #2) at 7:4-8:24.

1 Plaintiff also alleges that on information and belief, the Defendants “often change”
 2 Plaintiff’s military service records and FBI criminal history summaries, medical records 3 protected by HIPAA,² and academic records protected by FERPA.³ Additionally, he alleges the 4 Defendants have disclosed unspecified confidential and privileged information to unspecified 5 third parties.

6 Finally, Plaintiff alleges Defendants violated his right to equal protection guaranteed by 7 the Fourteenth Amendment. He claims Defendants discriminated against him because he was an 8 out-of-state student. He asserts that Defendants do not impose sanctions on in-state students who 9 assert their Miranda rights during custodial interrogation, nor do they violate the privacy rights 10 of in-state students.

11 B. Dryden’s Claims.

12 1. Official Capacity Claims.

13 a. Claims for Damages.

14 Dryden asserts claims against all of the Defendants in their official capacities. A suit 15 against a state official in her official capacity is not a suit against the official, but is instead a 16 suit against the official’s office. See Will, 491 U.S. at 71. As discussed below, a suit against 17 Defendants in their official capacities is a suit against the state of Nevada, and under the 18 Eleventh Amendment, the state is immune from suit. The Eleventh Amendment bars suits “in 19 law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another 20 State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.” U.S. Const. amend. XI. In the absence 21 of a waiver by the state or a valid congressional override, agencies of the state are immune for 22 private damage actions or suits for injunctive relief brought in federal court. Dittman v.
 23 California, 191 F.3d 1020, 1025 (9th Cir.1999). Nevada has explicitly refused to waive its 24

25 ² HIPAA, the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act, 29 U.S.C. §§ 1181 et 26 seq., 42 U.S.C. §§ 30gg and 1320d et seq., does not create an implied right of action to sue under 27 42 U.S.C. § 1983. See Cunningham-Dirks v. Nevada, No. 2:12-cv-00590-PMP, 2013 WL 77470 at *5 (D. Nev. Jan. 3, 2013) (citing Seaton v. Mayberg, 610 F.3d 530, 533 (9th Cir. 2010)).

28 ³ FERPA is the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, 20 U.S.C. § 1232g. It does not create a private right of action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. See Desyllas v. Bernstein, 351 F.3d 934, 940 n.2 (9th Cir. 20013) (citing Gonzaga Univ. v. Doe, 536 U.S. 273, 276 (2002)).

1 immunity to suit under the Eleventh Amendment. See O'Connor v. Nevada, 686 F.2d 749, 750 2 (9th Cir.1982) (citing NRS 41.031(3)).

3 Courts in this district have clearly established that the state university system, including 4 UNLV, operates as a branch of the Nevada state government and is a state instrumentality or 5 agency within the meaning of the Eleventh Amendment. See, e.g., Disabled Rights Action
 6 Comm. v. Las Vegas Events, Inc., 375 F.3d 861, 883. n. 7 (9th Cir. 2004) (noting Nevada 7 System of Higher Education is immune from suit under the Eleventh Amendment); Johnson v.
 8 Univ. of Nev., 596 F. Supp. 175, 178 (D. Nev.1984) (finding the University of Nevada and its 9 Board of Regents were state entities entitled to immunity under the Eleventh Amendment); 10 Simonian v. University and Community College System 128 P.3d 1057, 1061–62 (Nev. 2006) 11 (holding the University and Community College System is a state entity for purposes of the 12 Federal Claims Act). Eleventh Amendment immunity extends to officials sued in their official 13 capacities. A suit against a state official in his or her official capacity is not a suit against the 14 official, but rather, is a suit against the official's office. See Will, 491 U.S. at 71. Accordingly, 15 Defendants are immune from Dryden's official capacity claims under the Eleventh Amendment.

16 2. Claims for Injunctive Relief.

17 To the extent Dryden is seeking injunctive relief, the Eleventh Amendment does not bar 18 that claim. See Gamage v. Nevada ex rel. Board of Regents of Nevada Sys. of Higher Ed., (Jan 19 21, 2014) (citing Ex Parte Young, 209 U.S. 123 (1908)). In Ex Parte Young, the United States 20 Supreme Court held that the Eleventh Amendment immunity doctrine does not bar suits brought 21 in federal court against state officials in their official capacities for prospective injunctive relief 22 to prevent future violations of federal law. See Puerto Rico Aqueduct & Sewer Auth'y v.
 23 Metcalf & Eddy, Inc., 506 U.S. 139, 146 (1993). Dryden also alleges, in conclusory fashion, the 24 factors the court must analyze in issuing a preliminary/permanent injunction. Rule 8 of the 25 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure require "more than labels and conclusions" or a "formulaic 26 recitation of the elements of a cause of action." Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) 27 (citing Papasan v. Allain, 478 U.S. 265, 286 (1986)). Dryden's conclusory allegations do not

1 merit entering a preliminary or permanent injunction at this stage of the proceedings. Iqbal, 556 2 U.S. at 679-80.

3 2. Individual Capacity Claims.

4 a. Due Process Claim.

5 Dryden alleges he was denied procedural due process because he was expelled without 6 notice, hearing, or appeal. In order to state a procedural due process claim, Dryden must allege 7 he was deprived of a protected interest, without due process of law. See Logan v. Zimmerman 8 Brush Co., 455 U.S. 422, 428 (1982). To be entitled to the procedural protections of the 9 Fourteenth Amendment, Plaintiff must demonstrate that his dismissal from the school deprived 10 him of either a "liberty" or a "property" interest. See Univ. of Mo. v. Horowitz, 435 U.S. 78, 82 11 (1978). Plaintiff has a protected property interest in continued enrollment at a public institution 12 of higher learning. Id. When a student is suspended from a public school or university for 13 disciplinary reasons, due process requires "that the student be given oral or written notice of the 14 charges against him and, if he denies them, an explanation of the evidence the authorities have 15 and an opportunity to present his side of the story." Goss v. Lopez, 419 U.S. 565, 581 (1975).

16 Dryden alleges Defendant Barefield expelled him without providing him notice, hearing, 17 or appeal. He asserts he requested a hearing, and Barefield denied his request and that he 18 requested an appeal, and Barefield refused. Accepting Plaintiff's allegations as true, he has 19 stated a due process claim.

20 b. First Amendment Retaliation Claim.

21 Plaintiff alleges that after being questioned by UNLV police, he answered all questions 22 concerning his identity and provided the police officer with his driver's license and student 23 identification card but then asserted Miranda rights and refused to answer questions about the 24 unspecified alleged crime. Plaintiff alleges UNLV police asked Barefield to discipline Dryden 25 for asserting his Miranda rights, and even though Barefield knew the police officer's complaint 26 was baseless, she expelled Dryden for violating the provision of UNLV's Code that prohibits a 27 student from not complying with reasonable directions of law enforcement officers who 28 ///

1 identified themselves as such and are performing their duties. Plaintiff has alleged that he was 2 retaliated against because he engaged in constitutionally-protected speech.

3 A heightened pleading standard applies for First Amendment retaliation claims. See 4 Mendocino Env'l. Ctr. v. Mendocino Cty., 192 F.3d 1283, 1300-01 (9th Cir. 1999) ("Mendocino
 5 II") (citing Mendocino Env'l Ctr. V. Mendocino Cty., 14 F.3d 457, 464 (9th Cir. 1994)
 6 ("Mendocino I")). The Ninth Circuit has recognized that a plaintiff asserting a First 7 Amendment retaliation claim "may not recover merely on the basis of a speculative chill due to 8 generalized and legitimate law enforcement initiatives." Mendocino I, 14 F.3d at 464 (citing 9 Gibson v. United States, 781 F.2d 1334, 1338 (9th Cir. 1986)). To avoid dismissal of a First 10 Amendment retaliation claim, a plaintiff must allege that a defendant's conduct was motivated 11 by an intent to retaliate for the plaintiff's exercise of constitutionally-protected rights. Id.
 12 (citing Thomas v. Carpenter, 881 F.2d 828, 829 (9th Cir. 1989)). "A defendant's intent is an 13 element of the claim." Id. (emphasis in original). Here, Dryden has not alleged that Barefield 14 deterred or chilled his speech. In fact, he alleges that Barefield's conduct did not deter his 15 speech, and his speech (i.e., asserting his Miranda rights) was the reason he was expelled.

16 Additionally, Miranda warnings are only required when a suspect is subjected to 17 custodial interrogation. See Thompson v. Keohane, 516 U.S. 99, 102 (1995). Custodial 18 interrogation is questioning initiated by a law enforcement officer after a person has been taken 19 into custody or deprived of his freedom. See United States v. Butler, 249 F.3d 1094, 1098 (9th 20 Cir. 2001) (citing Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 444 (1966)). In determining whether a 21 suspect is in custody, the court examines whether there was "a formal arrest or restraint on 22 freedom of movement" of the degree associated with a formal arrest. See Stansbury v.
 23 California, 511 U.S. 318, 322 (1994) (citing California v. Beheler, 463 U.S. 1121, 1125 24 (1983)). To determine whether a suspect is in custody such that Miranda warnings are required, 25 the court looks at the "objective circumstances of the interrogation." Id. at 323. The subjective 26 views of the interrogating officer and the suspect are irrelevant. Id.; see also United States v.
 27 Leasure, 122 F.3d 837, 840 (9th Cir. 1997).

28 ///

1 Here, Plaintiff's conclusory allegation that the police officer conducted a custodial 2 interrogation is insufficient. He has not alleged any facts to support the legal conclusion that he 3 was subjected to custodial interrogation, and the court is not required to accept as true his 4 formulaic recitation. See Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678-80. Furthermore, his claim that he was 5 subjected to custodial interrogation is belied by the allegations in the Amended Complaint, 6 which do not support a finding that his freedom of movement was restrained to the degree 7 associated with formal arrest. Rather, he alleges that the police office came to Plaintiff's place 8 of employment to question him and that he was free to leave to hire an attorney who later acted 9 on Plaintiff's behalf. See Complaint at ¶¶ 28, 31. Because Plaintiff has not sufficiently alleged 10 that he was subject to custodial interrogation, Miranda's procedural safeguards are not 11 triggered. See Rhode Island v. Innis, 446 U.S. 291, 301 (1980). Plaintiff has not stated a First 12 Amendment retaliation claim.

13 c. Invasion of Privacy Claim.

14 Dryden also alleges a claim for invasion of privacy. Dryden's invasion of privacy claim 15 arises under Nevada state law.⁴ Under the doctrine of supplemental jurisdiction, a federal court 16 may hear state claims that are part of the "same case or controversy" as a claim arising under 17 federal law. 28 U.S.C. § 1337(a). However, the court may decline to exercise supplemental 18 jurisdiction over state law claims if the court determines that federal claims warrant dismissal.
 19 28 U.S.C. § 1337(c)(3). The exercise of supplemental jurisdiction is entirely within the court's 20 discretion. United Mine Workers of Am. v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 716, (1966).

21 In order to state a claim under Nevada law for the tort of intrusion, Dryden must allege 22 (a) an intentional intrusion (physical or otherwise); (b) on his solitude or seclusion; (c) that 23 would be highly offensive to a reasonable person. See People for the Ethical Treatment of 24 Animals v. Bobby Berosini, Ltd., 895 P.2d 1269, 1279 (Nev. 1995), overruled in part on other 25 grounds by City of Las Vegas Downtown Redevelopment Agency v. Hecht, 940 P.2d 134 (Nev.
 26 1997). In order to have an interest in seclusion or solitude that the law will protect, a plaintiff

27 ⁴In Nevada, the tort is referred to as the tort of intrusion.
 28

1 must show that he had an actual expectation of seclusion or solitude that was objectively 2 reasonable. See M&R Inv. Co., 748 P.2d 488, 493 (Nev. 1987).

3 Dryden alleges that Barefield and Jane Doe #2 obtained confidential information about 4 Plaintiff, changed certain information, and disclosed it to unspecified third parties. The Nevada 5 Supreme Court has looked to the Restatement in analyzing the tort of intrusion, and it 6 recognized that the tort of intrusion includes things like “the meddling conduct of 7 eavesdroppers, the unpermitted opening of others’ mail, and the making of illegal searches and 8 seizures. Simply put, the intrusion tort gives redress for interference with one’s right to be left 9 alone.” Id. (citing William L. Prosser, Privacy, 48 Cal. L. Rev. 383 (1960) and Restatement 10 (Second) of Torts § 652B at 378 (1977)). Here, Dryden’s conclusory allegations that Barefield 11 and Doe #2 disclosed unspecified confidential and privileged documents to unspecified third 12 parties is insufficient to state an intrusion claim. The Nevada Supreme Court has enunciated the 13 following factors in considering whether a particular action was highly offensive: “the degree of 14 intrusion, the context, conduct and circumstances surrounding the intrusion as well as the 15 intruder’s motives and objectives, the setting into which he intrudes, and the expectations of 16 those whose privacy is invaded.” People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals v. Bobby 17 Berosini, Ltd., 867 P.2d 1269, 1133 (Nev. 1995), overruled on other grounds by City of Las 18 Vegas Downtown Redevelopment Agency v. Hecht, 940 P.2d 134, 138 (Nev. 1997). Plaintiff 19 has not alleged specific facts to support his intrusion claim, and his conclusory recitation of the 20 elements is insufficient.

21 d. Equal Protection Claim.

22 Dryden alleges he was treated differently by Defendants because he was an out-of-state 23 student. The purpose of the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment is to prevent 24 intentional and arbitrary discrimination on the basis of gender, national origin, ethnicity, race, or 25 religion. See Engquist v. Oregon Dept. of Ag., 553 U.S. 591, 611 (2008) (citing Village of 26 Willowbrook v. Olech, 528 U.S. 562, 564 (2000)). Plaintiff has not alleged that he was 27 discriminated against based on his membership in any protected class, nor has he asserted that 28 ///

1 he was intentionally treated differently from others similarly situated (the so-called "class of 2 one" equal protection claim). Therefore, Dryden has not stated an equal protection claim.

3 Accordingly,

4 IT IS ORDERED:

5 1. The Clerk of the Court shall issue summons to Defendant Andrea Barefield and 6 deliver the same to the U.S. Marshal for service. Plaintiff shall have twenty days in 7 which to furnish the U.S. Marshal with the required Form USM-285. Within twenty 8 days after receiving from the U.S. Marshal a copy of the Form USM-285, showing 9 whether service has been accomplished, Plaintiff must file a notice with the court 10 identifying whether Defendant was served. If Plaintiff wishes to have service again 11 attempted on an unserved defendant, a motion must be filed with the court identifying 12 the unserved defendant and specifying a more detailed name and/or address for said 13 defendant, or whether some other manner of service should be attempted. Pursuant to 14 Rule 4(m) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, service must be accomplished 15 within 120 days from the date this order is entered.

16 2. From this point forward, Plaintiff shall serve upon Defendant, or, if appearance has 17 been entered by counsel, upon the attorney(s), a copy of every pleading motion or 18 other document submitted for consideration by the court. Plaintiff shall include with 19 the original papers submitted for filing a certificate stating the date that a true and 20 correct copy of the document was mailed to the defendants or counsel for the 21 Defendants. The court may disregard any paper received by a District Judge or 22 Magistrate Judge which has not been filed with the Clerk, and any paper received by 23 a District Judge, Magistrate Judge, or the Clerk which fails to include a certificate of 24 service.

25 IT IS RECOMMENDED:

26 1. Plaintiff's First Amendment retaliation, Fourteenth Amendment equal protection, 27 and Nevada law intrusion claims be DISMISSED for failure to state a claim upon 28 which relief can be granted.

1 2. Plaintiff's claims against all Defendants in their official capacities be 2 DISMISSED for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.
3 3. Plaintiff's claims against Jane Doe #1 and Jane Doe #2 be DISMISSED for 4 failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.
